A LETTER TO THE COMMUNITY

I just heard that there might be a giant gas/mart built, possibly at the corner of 69 & 169 in front of our country farm.

I just want to share with you my experience from my native home Long Island N.Y.

Growing up on LI we had open roads, potato farms, cows and horses. It didn't last long in my time. You see our elders weren't much into politics and didn't attend town meetings. Slowly it snuck up on them; the building of new developments, the new stores on every corner, then the lights around the stores and fancy lite up houses. The convenience of this all brought in more people, more traffic lights and stop signs, more street lights. Of course, this all cost money; and who paid for it? Our families did, taxes elevated and our farmers were forced out. No more cows, no more potato fields. Our land was taken away, the ones that kids would have picnics on, the ones that horses roamed and were open to ride horses and dirt bikes on. Then to make matters worse, they started charging a good amount of money to get into what parks and/or beaches we had left. The elders became saddened, some would tell their children as they grew older "if you can move off L.I. do it, to retire here has and continues to be to expensive" families were forced to separate in distance.

Long Island today is not my heart of Long Island, my heart was broken, and was forced to move all because of greed for convenience; more stores, followed by more street lights and no more star skies, sunrises, sunset views! Money, that not all of us natives had has become a necessity to pay basic bills and enjoy parks and beaches to get a sense of peace and joy. What we loved most was lost for good!

We moved to "Arizona's country town" to get back what we love the most "Country living". We travel down the roads and we see the cows, the deer, the antelope and the cowboy ranchers herding their livestock and we remember how it was growing up on L.I. and we are happy. We sit on our porch and everyone that passes by waves hello, we ask each other, "Do you know that person?" Then I realized we're in the country, people are content and stress free here, so they are waving showing how nice they feel and want to share. I asked a 5-year-old boy "what do you want to be when you get bigger?" he said; "A miner" I never had a child give me that answer, I don't think children where I lived knows that mining even exist anymore, it's just in the history books at school.

Why I ask do people move to this area and just want to change it? Convenience is what they want, but little do they know with it, it will cost you and me! This will no longer be "Arizona's Country Town", your taxes will start to rise, your space will become congested. It starts somewhere, it starts with a group decision and the rest will be laid in peace and lost forever!

My heart breaks! I plead "Keep Dewey Country". Bring in the visitors that are looking to find fun and sense of peace, find beauty in the open fields and native animals, keep the history so that the hard work of the elders will never be forgotten, and we can appreciate all that we have today; stress free.

I don't know what the majority of the residence here want, but remember this "Once it's lost, you can't get it back!"

Let the future of Dewey-Humboldt be "Arizona's OLDEST Country Town"

God Bless,
Chris Ellen DeVeau

NEW BUSINESSES IN OUR AREA:

The D-H Newsletter does not accept advertising but we do like to announce new businesses. Here is one that is new to our community.

THE PINK PROJECT THRIFT STORE

Located at the Humboldt Station, Hwy 69 & Main St, Humboldt, The Pink Project is dedicated to helping people who are going through cancer treatments. It is during this time they need help with rent/mortgage, utilities, food, and gas.

The Pink Project is accepting donations of gently used household goods. At this time they cannot take clothing, shoes, or large appliances because of space limitations.

The Fitzgerald family is dedicated to helping others as their family has been through it themselves. While going through her own cancer treatments Shannon Fitzgerald realized there must be others who, like herself, were unable to work and needed help to get through those times.

Operating this thrift store is a dream come true—an opportunity to pay it forward.

All donations are appreciated!

The Pink Project Thrift Store is open from 9 to 5:30 daily at 2735 S Hwy 69, Suites 1 & 2, Humboldt, AZ (by the Chevron). (928) 277-6724

Create Defensible Space

Creating defensible space is essential to improve your home's chance of surviving a wildfire. It's the buffer you create between a building on your property and the grass, trees, shrubs, or any wildland area that surround it. This space is needed to slow or stop the spread of wildfire and it protects your home from catching fire—either from direct flame contact or radiant heat. Defensible space is also important for the protection of the firefighters defending your home. For more information go to the National Fire Protection Agency website:

MAYER AZ ROCKS!

Sue Tone, PV Tribune

You can spot them everywhere, but you have to know what you're hunting.

Spring Valley resident Julie Brostrom-Pope has formed Mayer AZ Rocks, a group that paints rocks, hides them, and asks only that the finder take a picture and put it on the Mayer AZ Rocks Facebook page

Leaving painted rocks for others to find and either keep or re-hide is an international movement, Brostrom-Pope said. In fact, Autumn Moore, a 10-year-old Cordes Lakes resident, painted a rock and hid it in Cleator

"That rock went to Canada and Costa Rica. The people kept traveling around the world with it," Brostrom-Pope said. "Last week, it wound up in Buenos Aires, Argentina."

She started the Mayer AZ Rocks Facebook group, presently with 707 members, about a year and a half ago after she was inspired by Bullhead City Rocks, currently with 10,920 members. Bullhead City Rocks Facebook group administrator was inspired by Whidbey Island Rocks, Washington

Group founders acknowledge whatever group inspired them after finding one of their rocks. "Now, if someone finds mine and they want to start a page, they give credit to Mayer AZ Rocks," she said.

On Brostrom-Pope's Facebook page, she writes, "Painting rocks is good for the soul. It gives you an opportunity to be creative, and being artistic has been proven to reduce stress and anxiety. Getting outside in our beautiful area and hiding or finding rocks has a multitude of positive benefits.

Recently she taught rock painting as part of the Dewey-Humboldt Town Library's summer reading program. The children (and adults) painted their rocks, dried them outside in the sun, and Brostrom-Pope sprayed several layers of a clear sealant on

On the bottom of the rocks, she writes, "Post pic to Mayer AZ Rocks on Facebook and keep or rehide."

A local long-distance truck driver found a Mayer AZ rock, named it Dwayne and traveled with it from coast to coast. Wherever he stopped, he took a picture of Dwayne, Brostrom-Pope said.

Brostrom-Pope often teaches six-week classes in rock painting for children and adults through community centers and libraries. Some people gather for exchange parties and family paint parties. "We use rocks as prizes," she said. "I've found that a lot of rock painters are also rock collectors."

FIRE RESTRICTIONS AND AREA CLOSURE LIFTED ON THE PRESCOTT NATIONAL FOREST

PRESCOTT, AZ (July 11, 2018) – Due to precipitation received and predicted continued monsoon activity across the forest, the Prescott National Forest will lift all fire restrictions and the area closure on the Bradshaw Ranger District on Friday, July 13, 2018 at 8:00 am.

While all fire restrictions will be lifted, forest visitors are reminded that the potential for wildfires still exist and to please use caution with campfires and other potential ignitions sources.

On behalf of the Prescott National Forest we would like to thank our local cooperative agencies, resident neighbors, and forest visitors for their involvement and understanding throughout a very long fire severity season. The fire restrictions and area closure that we all worked together on proved to be effective and successful. Thank you all for your contribution."

SOME SAFETY TIPS FROM THE CENTRAL ARIZONA FIRE AND MEDICAL AUTHORITY

Protect your home and property by following these safety tips listed:

Create a defensible space around your home. Do you have a safety zone at least 30' around your home? Keep weeds and grass cut short to slow the progress of a ground fire. Remove dead or dying brush, trees and vegetation. Once these are dried out they can ignite easily and carry fire quickly. Clear pine needles and leaves from roofs and gutters. Rake up pine needles and leaves to prevent accumulation around your home. Trim trees up 4'-5' from the ground.

Ways to keep yourself safe during hot periods:

Some things to keep in mind when doing any outdoor activity during this time of year is staying hydrated. Drink plenty of liquids before performing the outdoor activity and bring plenty of fluids with you. Wear light colored clothing that will help reflect the sun. Dark clothing will absorb heat faster. Wear a hat to protect your face from the sun. Always let someone know where you're going and what time you expect to return, and carry a cell phone with you. Take plenty of breaks in shade and continue to drink fluids. Try to do outdoor activities, like hiking, biking, etc. early in the morning or late in the afternoon to avoid the hottest part of the day. If possible, have at least one other person with you when doing these types of activities.
